

Re: Martamaria

To whom it may concern.

I've known Martamaria for several years and she is one of the most enthusiastic, energetic and organised people that I've met in the music business.

She has a clear vision for her band and works tirelessly to achieve it, from song writing and recording, to live performance, PR and marketing.

She always does so with good humour, a level head and a keen understanding of what it takes to make it in today's music environment.

She's a people person with tact and charm, reliable, open to new ideas, accommodating and practical, and full of drive, determination and conviction.

I'd be only too happy to recommend her for any project that she turned her hand to.

Yours faithfully,

Tim Jones

News Editor/Staff Writer, Record Collector magazine, London.